FOR THE HEART HE BROKE

WATERLOO, Ia., Oct. 25.—A 320-broken heart was received by Miss Margaret Morgan, clerk in a local department store, from M. J. Muench, formerly a Sioux City auctioneer.

Miss Morgan accepted the farm in full settlement of a $15,000 judgment she obtained from Muench in the dis-of her breach of promise suit.

TAKE THAT

YOUR ARM

When your arm or leg is knotted with pain and you feel as if your muscles were tied with a rope, your rheumatism is making an attack. Rheumatism is the result of acids and other deposits of impurities which actually "tie up" the muscles, nerves and bones, producing the awful shooting pains of sciatica, lumbago, etc. These acid deposits are carried by the blood to various parts of the body. The way to stop them is to drive the impurities out of the blood. S. S. S. will do it. This

DEMOCRATIC EFFORT TO TRADE FOR VOTES

Is Fully Exposed by the Records of the American Independent Conference.

(SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM)
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—It was not until after Jeremiah A. O'Leary had refused persistently to have anything to do with the Democrats and declined their insistent and repeated invitations for meetings and conferences that President Wilson decided that O'Leary "had access to the disloyal." The effort to get O'Leary to work for Wilson was in full swing at the time of the Wilson speech of acceptance at Shadow Lawn on September 2 and it was not until that effort had failed that Mr. Wilson proclaimed that he did not want any O'Leary votes.

William R. MacDonald, of Chicago, who was named in statements given out by the Democratic national committee as an emissary of the American Independence Conference, sent a telegram to Chairman Wilcox of the Republican national committee Tuesday, in which he said that the records of the conference show "that former Governor Martin H. Glynn, of New York, met Mr. O'Leary on a train just prior to the Shadow Lawn speech of acceptance and in a two-hour conference urged O'Leary not to take any definite stand until he, Glynn, had had opportunity to take the matter up with Mr. Wilson at Shadow Lawn where he was to lunch with the president on notification day. (Mr. Glynn did lunch with the president on that day); that Governor Glynn assured Mr. O'Leary that the Democratic leaders were still planning to do something to win back the German-American vote, and naturally stress was laid on the deep regret felt because the administration, apparently without protest, had allowed the abuse of nuns, attacks on priests, etc.; that Governor Glynn asked O'Leary to promise to delay any contemplated action until after the Shadow Lawn conference; that after Governor Glynn went to the Shadow Lawn conference he went into long distance communication with Mr.
O'Leary and informed him that he had made an appointment with Mr. Vance McCormick and that Mr. Vance Mc-Cormick was very anxious to see Mr.
O'Leary and would Mr. O'Leary let Mr. Vance McCormick know where he could be seen; that Governor Glynn sent what might be called a letter of introduction to Mr. O'Leary to be used when he called upon Mr. Vance Mc-Cormick; that Vance McCormick tried to get in touch with Mr. O'Leary by long distance and local New York telephone and tried to reach him by telephone at the McAlpin hotel, the American Truth Society office, Mr. O'Leary's law office, Mr. MacDonald's offices of the American Embargo Conference, and at Mr. O'Leary's home; that the conference records also bear statements that the conference received "invitations from certain Democratic leaders that if he would try to hold the voters of our body for Wilson we would see some very strong acts on the part of the administration, such as refusing clearance papers to liners bound with ammunition to England, unless the mail outrages were stopped; that our records show that even now we expect some eleventh hour overture on the part of the Democratic leaders which they hope will bring votes to Mr. Wilson."

Mr. MacDonald's telegram continues:
"I am willing to make solemn affidavit to the fact that the only evidences of any attempt to trade with the thousands and thousands of voters who are in this organization because they stand for America first, came from men whom we have had every right to look upon as accredited and responsible representatives of the Democratic national committee. I am willing to make solemn affidavit that we went to Mr. Hughes, four of us as American citizens who felt we had as much right to confer with Mr.
Hughes as Charles W. Eliot, Henry Ford, Richard Olney, or others have to confer with Mr. Wilson; that Mr.
Hughes listened to our declaration which the Democratic national committee has given out and which it seems to feel is in some way un-American and he then made a ringing declaration of Americanism. I will make an affidavit that he made no promise, agreed to nothing, mentioned no pact with the statement he issued regarding our conference. This is absolutely true in every detail.

ADAMSON LAW

how in his home city of New York arrangements were made for thousands to sleep on the docks.

Showing how the war offset the bad effects of the low tariff, the speaker said that in the year before the war broke out American exports amounted to upwards of $265,000,000, while for the year ended June 1, 1916, exports from this country amounted to upwards of $4,000,000,000. Of this latter amount, he said, $2,000,000,000 worth was composed of articles used in the conduct of warfare.

"The mushroom prosperity which results from this state of affairs will end abruptly with the war," the speaker declared, "and then more serious problems of relations between capital and labor will arise than in the past, because American industries will be confronted with the competition of European industries, developed to a higher state of efficiency than ever before."

Adamson Act Ambiguous.

Referring to the Adamson bill, Mr.
Wickersham told how Grover Cleveland, a Democratic president, had forced arbitration on England in that nation's boundary dispute with Venezuela. He contrasted Mr. Cleveland's actions with those of President Wilson, in the latter's handling of the threatened railroad strike. "The Adamson law," he declared, "is entitled an act to establish an eight-hour day.
As a matter of fact it does not establish an eight-hour day. It does establish a minimum wage for an eight-hour day. The labor organizations themselves are beginning to perceive that the act is ambiguous and uncertain. In a circular just issued they tell their members that they do not know just what it does mean. The more care with which they examine it the less satisfactory it will prove to be."

Mr. Wickersham told of the support being given by President Wilson by Judge Lovett, president of the Union Pacific railroad, and President Underwood of the Erie system. These two railroad heads, he declared, say they think the bill is a fine piece of legislation. "Of course they do," he explained. "They know the public will pay the freight." He stated that it was practically certain that the railroad presidents had been assured a freight rate increase, which will cover the increases in salaries forced upon them by the Adamson bill.

Denounces Pork Barrel.

The speaker denounced the pork barrel appropriations of the last Democratic Congress, paying especial attention to the rivers and harbors bill and the public buildings measure.
Referring to Mr. Hughes's record as governor of New York, he declared that, as chief executive of that state, the Republican presidential candidate was the best friend labor ever had.
"He proposed and secured the passage of one-third of all the labor laws passed in New York since the foundation of the state, but they were passed after thorough investigation and with ample knowledge of their effects. The employer's liability and workmen's compensation acts were based upon an exhaustive report of a commission after the most thorough examination of the subject ever conducted."

Yeto Is Explained.

Explaining Mr. Hughes's veto of the two-cent railroad fare bill, Mr. Wickersham declared that the governor had created a public service commission to deal with all such questions, thinking it best to take all disputes of this kind out of the legislature. Despite the fact that there was a public service commission, empowered under the law to act in such cases, the legislature of New York, the speaker said, passed the bill and sent it to the executive mansion for the governor's signature. Governor Hughes, he said, vetoed the measure, saying that if an increase or decrease in rates was sought the facts should be presented to the public service commission and not to the legislature.

Mr. Wickersham concluded his address by showing that the nation was still in a state of unpreparedness, despite the pretense of the president to favor a greater army and navy. He discussed the Mexican situation and drew a hearty laugh from the crowd when he said: "I read in the paper today that Villa is attacking Chihuahua City. Of course that can't be true, for Villa, you know, is officially dead. He must stay dead until after the election."

PLANNING A JOINT CELEBRATION.

WHEELING: Lutheran churches of the Wheeling district are planning a joint celebration of the quadricenten-nial of the Reformation. The first event will be a mass meeting on Sunday, October 29. The Rev. R. E. Mc-Daniel, of Moundsville, will preside and Dr. J. C. Kunzman, of Philadelphia, Pa., will deliver the principal address. The meeting will be held in a local theater.

SAGE TEA TURNS
GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound.
This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

USE OF RUBBER

by a former king of England as to how the apple got inside the dumpling. is the question that Mrs. Sarah C. Williams of Cross street would like to have scientists, ornithologists or anybody else answer.

Mrs. Williams broke open an egg recently after the egg had been boiled.
Inside she found a piece of newspaper about half an inch long and an eighth of an inch wide. There were a few lines of print on the paper and Mrs. Williams could make out these words, "To be known," and underneath, "go to." The egg was in good condition.

As this is the time of the year for connecting up gas stoves, I wish to notify all persons that there is a city ordinance prohibiting the use of rubber hose, and that said ordinance will be rigidly enforced. Connections must be made with pipe. Rubber hose is a menace not only to your own property, but to that of your neighbors.
